Your Birth Nakshatra

Your Birth Nakshatra is that constellation that was rising in the East when you were born and holds the key to your nature, physical appearance, instincts & destiny. Vedic Astrology was all Nakshatra (Constellation) based before sign based astrology became prevalent with the Greek era. Results of your birth under your Nakshatra are mentioned below.

Effects of birth in Nakshatra

You are from a constellation that is symbolised by a bunch of roots tied together, indicating many things at once as well as representing hidden things and secrecy. It is symbolic of one who is tied to one's roots or someone who generally does not go far away from their birthplace or gets to the root of situations, either to find the cause of a problem or to prove a point.

This nakshatra spans 0.00 – 13.20 degrees in Sagittarius and is one of the gandanta constellations (which marks the transition from water to fire elements), where transformation happens from the material to spiritual realm.

If you have this constellation in your horoscope, you will have a deep interest in investigating the unseen and unknown, curiosity for hidden knowledge, occult studies, astrology and exploration. You will have the ability to remain balanced in adverse situations, a peace-loving nature and high faith in justice system. Due to your friendly nature, you will also maintain good relationships with a lot of people.

Your Distinctive Physical Features

This constellation gives one an attractive, good-looking body; bright eyes; a big head; and a fat nose. It has also been observed that someone from this constellation may have space between teeth. But generally, you will be one of the most attractive persons in a room.

Your Key Traits

Moola Nakshatra blesses a person with a sweet, peace loving and social nature, always looking forward to mingling with friends. It makes one work on one's own principles and ideologies; and, at times, also makes a person restless.

It also makes one go through the spiritual process of evolution; accumulates karma, both good and bad; and casts supernatural influences on the person. It can bless one with penetrating insight and psychic abilities as well.

Your Natural Instinct

People from this constellation are close to their family and loyal to their organization, kin and kith.

Your Broad Instinct

As per Vedic culture, Moola Nakshatra can make a person self-destructive due to their insecurities, arrogance and stubborn nature. But all this is overpowered by their broad nature, as mentioned below.

Your Broad Nature

Moola Nakshatra gives a person a heightened sense of intuition; they pick up energies very quickly and understand if there is any negativity around them. They are generally soft-spoken, but raise their voice whenever required. Also, they do not quite know how to be diplomatic.

Your Element: Air

Air is the element of Moola Nakshatra, which makes one dynamic in nature, mentally sharp and intellectual, and blesses them with great concentration and observational skills. You will have the ability to accept the challenges of life and overcome them successfully with your flexible approach. But this constellation can also make one too idealistic and detached at times.

Auspicious First Letter for Choosing a Name for Someone Born under Moola Nakshatra: Ye, Yo, Ba, Be

The Vedas mention that the first letter of a name produces a vibration that affects an individual's life. Hence, it is wise to choose a name with a letter that creates harmony between the individual and the Universe, which will help one to manifest every happiness and success promised in one's horoscope.

Important Years for You

Special Vedic insights for you

Special Vedic insights will give you perceptions of your various personas and the different hats that you will don throughout your life. These titles will define you as a person throughout your life and give astrological insights for smooth sailing in life.

As a Parent: As a parent, you are sensitive to your children's needs and manage to understand them on an emotional level. You and your children have the water element, which makes you natural friends and gives you both a 'giving' nature. You have a deep and strong concern for your children's safety and security. Your children would be good human beings. You are able to teach them empathy and how to communicate well with people around them. But you also need to teach your children not to spill family secrets in front of everyone. You are a strict and tough parent when required and an extremely soft, creative and friendly parent when the need arises. Since you and your children are quite emotional, there would be many occasions when either you or your children could get upset with each other. But that wouldn't be a cause of concern as it won't take away the friendship between you.

As a Child: You are a very emotional and sensitive child. You have a close connection with your mother, whom you would regard as more of a friend. Her parenting style aims at making you as independent as possible. You and your mother both have different elements, one is water and the other is air. You are ambitious and want to achieve a lot; while she teaches you to take care of your siblings or other family members. The relationship with your father is good because he understands your emotional depth. You both have the same element – water – which make you both very emotional. Your father intuitively fulfills your needs and tries to support you when you feel low or weak. You will make your parents proud as well as protective towards you. You will maintain a close bond with your parents not only due to emotional attachment but also because they understand your needs.

As a Partner / Spouse: You will have an emotional, intuitive and mysterious relationship with your spouse/partner. You will be the secretive one while your spouse/partner would be the sensitive one, but you will manage to get along very well due to trust and open communication. There can be challenges at times due to possessiveness and jealousy; but you will both handle these situations well as a team. Your spouse/partner brings loyalty and stability in your life. Both of you have different elements, one has water and the other has earth; yet, if there are ever clashes in the relationship, then both of you are willing to communicate and compromise. The relationship will be passionate as you both respect and are loyal to each other. Your spouse/partner will demand that you make them practical and cushion their emotions.

As a Lover: You will seek a person who is emotional, intuitive, loving, and has similar thinking. As a lover, you might be too idealistic in your approach, but will make up for that through your positivity and the support you bring to your partner. You both understand each other's feelings and heart's desires, which helps in forging a committed and deep relationship. Particularly, if you can curb your jealous nature, there are high chances of moving from a love relationship to a long-term relationship or marriage.

As a Business Owner/Entrepreneur: You like to lead with an intellectual approach rather than force. Your talents come to the fore to lead and retain talent and people to work for you. As a business owner, you would be in segments that address the intense and passionate side of things. Not being afraid to take risks would be your ticket to success. You are often determined to succeed, sometimes at any cost. You will end up doing more than one type of work and, often, find yourself working two businesses or categories in parallel. Your natural charisma and ability to focus intensely on your goals can propel your businesses forward. You will connect with your employees – this is always helpful because a strong connection with your team can get some very dedicated people to work with you. On another note, you may need to be mindful of your tendency to be secretive or controlling as these traits can create challenges in your business. Your ambitions, resourcefulness and ability to navigate complex situations make you a formidable entrepreneur.

As an Employee: Your passion, resourcefulness and ability to understand things intuitively makes you an excellent person to work with. Your intense focus and determination would attract other colleagues in the office. You have an ability to thrive in environments where you can take up challenging projects, which also makes you an effective employee in the office. In the right environment, you will know how to use your qualities and achieve higher positions. You have good problem-solving skills; also, your multiple skills make you a good all-rounder and give you the ability to handle more than one responsibility. You are loyal to your employers and colleagues, making you a valuable team member. It is important for you to cultivate open communication and trust with your seniors and colleagues to ensure a positive work relationship.

As a Friend: You are a good friend, loyal and trustworthy. You care about the needs of your friends. However, you may lose interest soon, especially when you are unable to handle the pressure, leading to distance and sometimes disappearing from the life of your friends. You can be a good friend in crisis and are also the 2 AM friend for many due to your protective and caring nature. You are deeply intuitive and can often sense when things are not right with your friends. You are able to make friends easily as well as with people in high places because you offer all kinds of support to your friends. At the same time, you can be quite private and may take time to open up with friends. It is easy for you to build trust and understanding with friends, which can lead to deep and meaningful relationships.

Gemstones for you

Gemstone astrology is actually not a part of Vedic Astrology but due to its worldwide prevalence, we have added this to your astrology report. The theory of gemstones is magnification of the results of a particular planet & adding to its power. We have prepared the analysis for you as below.

Best Gemstones for You: Red Coral, Ruby, Yellow Sapphire, and Pearl.

Red Coral: This is the gemstone for Mars, which is the lagna lord (planet that rules a sign) and sixth house lord of Scorpio. It enhances your personality and supports you when you are pitted against your enemies or competitors, bringing you victory.

Ruby: This is the gemstone for Sun, which is the tenth house lord of Scorpio. It emboldens one's administrative power and brings prestige in professional life.

Yellow Sapphire: This is the gemstone for Jupiter, which is the second and fifth house lord for Scorpio. It increases your bank balance and ensures success in education.

Pearl: This is the gemstone for Moon, which is the ninth lord of Scorpio. It facilitates higher education and luck.

What should you Not Wear? Emerald and Diamond. Emeralds can bring sudden problems or challenges in life by causing many desires. Diamond can cause separation with spouse.

Note: These gemstone recommendations are general in nature. A detailed review of your horoscope is needed to understand the exact state & strength of a planet to help suggest the exact weight of the gemstone, the metal of setting and the correct hand & finger to wear it on. Vedic Astrology does not advice adding strength to all planets since many a times a negative planet that acquires more strength can be catastrophic.
